

AMERICAN GUNS STARTED FIRE

Shells Dropped in Villages of Cantigny and Mesnil St. Georges

GERMAN PATROLS CONTINUE ACTIVE

One Was Repulsed in Attack on an American Outpost

With the American Forces on the French front, Friday, May 10 (By the Associated Press).—American batteries bombarded the enemy lines heavily last night, the shells causing fires in the village of Cantigny and Mesnil St. Georges (west of Montdidier) held by the Germans.

German patrols continue active along the front. One attempted to rush American outposts but was driven off by brisk rifle fire.

An American outpost caught a German dog. The pouch about his neck contained a message that the German retaliatory fire was falling short and that many of their own shells were landing in Cantigny. This confirmed previous information reported by American outposts.

WHEAT FLOUR SUBSTITUTES SHOULD SELL MUCH LOWER

Hoover Says Corn Meal and Oatmeal Should Be 20 Per Cent Less in Price.

Washington, May 11.—Wheat flour substitutes should sell for from 10 to 20 per cent less than wheat flour, Food Administrator Hoover notified state food administrators yesterday. The administrators were instructed to direct wholesalers to stop dealing with retailers who cannot justify their prices on the basis of the cost of their goods.

Corn meal and oatmeal should sell 20 per cent below the price of wheat flour, and corn flour and barley flour should sell 10 per cent below wheat flour, the administrators were informed.

AGAINST PUBLIC POLICY

For Employing Railroad Company to Contract with Men to Avoid Liability.

New York, May 11.—A decision that "it is against public policy for an employing railroad company to contract with an employee to relieve itself from liability for negligence imposed by law" was handed down against the New York, New Haven & Hartford railroad yesterday by the appellate division of the state supreme court. Oscar Fried, who had both arms burned off when electricity passed through his body while he was working on a telegraph pole in the railroad's Mount Vernon yard in 1913, was awarded a verdict of $85,000.

William Travers Jerome, of counsel for the New Haven, introduced a paper signed by Fried, releasing the company from liability for accident or injury to himself. Holding that a carrier cannot have employees assume risk so that the carrier may defeat the purpose of the federal employers' liability act, Justice Blackman pointed out also that Fried's signature was obtained long after he became an employee.

ORDERED INTERNED.

Dr. Richard Goldschmidt, Recently Taken in Charge at New Haven.

Hartford, Conn., May 11.—Immediate removal of Dr. Richard Goldschmidt, professor-extraordinary of the University of Munich, who was recently taken in charge by federal agents as an enemy alien at New Haven, to Fort Jay, is understood to have been ordered. A few days ago upon request of President Hadley and others of Yale university, Professor Goldschmidt was transferred from Hartford jail to the state prison at Wethersfield, that he might have library facilities.

As soon as sufficient votes can be obtained to ensure its adoption, he said, the measure will be taken up.

NUX IRON PEPSIN and

SARSAPARILLA — Effective Spring Medicine Combination.

As comprised in Hood's Sarsaparilla and Pepsin, taken in conjunction, these valuable remedies possess unequalled value for the quick relief of a long train of ailments common in the spring season. You know well the great tonic properties of iron. They are much increased and improved in this combination—Hood's Sarsaparilla before meals and Pepsin after.

In these days of rushing and pushing, beyond the endurance of even the most robust, nearly every man and woman needs this blood-purifying, cleansing, building in the spring. If it is not supplied, the depletion of the blood and the broken-down nerves may soon give way to permanent ill health. If a cathartic is needed, as where there is biliousness or constipation, Hood's Pills should be taken. They are purely vegetable, do not irritate.—Adv.

For Cause and Country.

At no time during the war has the importance of wheat been greater than at this moment. Every ounce of saved wheat is a contribution to our fighting forces. Never before has it been so possible for the civilian to lend such direct and vital aid to his cause.

Direct orders for the family should be formulated by every patriotic housekeeper. In place of bread for dinner, she should demand of her household that they eat more potatoes, or—for variety—rice, as a vegetable, or hominy grits. Breakfast should begin the day not by the breaking of bread but by the serving of oatmeal, cornmeal mush, or prepared non-wheat products. And the housewife must serve these breakfast cereals not apart from the eggs or coffee, but with them, so that the lack of bread will be met quite obviously.

At luncheon, any bread served should be quite wheatless, and if potatoes are served, bread can be easily omitted. There are only a few of the ways that can be found by the housekeeper who wants to eliminate wheat entirely from her menu, and so make a high contribution to cause and country.

UNBEATEN PENN MEETS YALE

Their Oarsmen Coach Expresses Confidence in the Result

PENN HAS WON ALL HER RACES

Yale Has Had No Competition Thus Far This Year

Philadelphia, Pa., May 11.—The unbeaten varsity and freshman crews of the University of Pennsylvania were to meet Yale over the Henley course on the Schuylkill river late to-day. It was the first racing appearance of the red and blue oarsmen before a home crowd, and Coach Wright expressed confidence in the results. Pennsylvania defeated Annapolis this year, and last Saturday won the Childs' cup at Princeton by defeating Columbia and Princeton. While the Yale crews have had no competition so far, experts say they are well balanced and many regard the freshman eight as one of the best the Elis have produced in several years.

CURZON SAYS GRAVE TIMES ARE AHEAD

And That the British Soldiers May Have to Give Ground—Encouragement in Spirit of People.

London, May 11.—Speaking to the Primrose league yesterday, Earl Curzon, government leader in the House of Lords, and member of the British war council, said that grave times were ahead and that the British soldiers might have to give ground. Encouragement was to be found, however, he said, in the unity of command, in America's effort and the resolute, indomitable spirit of the British people.

AMERICANS' FATE UNKNOWN.

They Were Ordered Departed from Mexico Recently.

Washington, May 11.—The Mexican news bureau announced yesterday that in response to its investigation of reports that orders had been issued for the deportation from Mexico of Robert H. Murray, representative of the committee on public information, and W. E. Weigand, an Associated Press correspondent, it had received the following telegram from the chief of the bureau of information in the Mexican foreign office: "The authorities who would know have no knowledge of the arrests to which you refer in your message."

No further advice regarding the two men had been received by any department of the United States government, and officials and others still are concerned about them.

DIVIDE AVIATION INQUIRY.

One Dealing in General Situation, Other with Special Features.

Washington, May 11.—Plans for aviation and other war inquiries were outlined yesterday by the Senate military committee, which decided that investigations made by sub-committees.

The aviation inquiry will be divided into two branches in charge of separate sub-committees, one dealing with the general situation, including appropriations, the other making a special investigation of manufacturers, cross-liens, agreements, which Senator Thomas of Colorado charged on Thursday, the Senate food producers controlling basic patents a monopoly.

One sub-committee will resume inquiry into the army quartermaster's department and another will continue the ordinance inquiry.

The aviation investigations are expected to begin next week.

VERMONT WAR STAMP FIGURES.

Total Purchases Up to April 27 Were $599,907.10, with Per Capita of $1.57.

If all the counties in the state should make as good progress as Orange county made during the week ending April 27, Vermont would be assured of raising her quota in the U. S. war savings stamp campaign. The report of the state shows that Rutland county has again gone into the lead. The tabulation is as follows:

HOW TO BLOCK JUSTICE.

I. W. W. Threatened Government and Production of War Supplies.

Chicago, May 11.—A veiled warning to the government of the strength of the Industrial Workers of the World was contained in an article placed in the record yesterday by the prosecution in the seditious conspiracy trial of 112 leaders of the organization.

"We have shown the world how to block the machinery of justice," said the article published in an official organ on Aug. 18, 1917, when the government contained the anti-war conspiracy was most vigorous.

"The slow down plan and mass opposition to unjust regulations would work as well in detention camps as on the job. The widespread knowledge of punitive sabotage upon modern industry gives the militant portion of the working class the power to stop or disrupt production at will."

AMERICAN VALOR RECOGNIZED.

Flags of Two Companies of 9th U. S. Infantry Decorated.

With the American Army in France, May 9.—(By the Associated Press).—The flags of Companies I and L of the Ninth United States Infantry were decorated with the French war cross today in recognition of the repulse of a German attack along the heights of the Meuse, south of Verdun on April 14, when enemy raiders, some disguised as French soldiers, entered the American trenches and gave the alarm that a gas attack was in progress.

The two companies of the ninth attacked the Germans, killed 61 of them and took prisoners.

GERMANS LOST HEAVILY IN AIR

27 Airplanes Were Downed by the British on Thursday

AND DOZEN OTHERS WERE DRIVEN DOWN

Four Hostile Observation Balloons Were Also Destroyed

London, May 11.—A cloudless day on Thursday favored the British aviators, according to an official statement to-day dealing with air activities.

"Twenty-seven German machines were downed, 12 were driven down out of control and four hostile observation balloons were destroyed. Six of our machines are missing," the statement says.

THE DRAFT FOR IRELAND.

Does Ireland Prefer to Be a Poland or a Rumania?

Lloyd George demands the draft for Ireland along with all other parts of the United Kingdom because its whole available man power is needed to keep the iron heel of German militarism off the neck of all men who would be free. This paper for one thinks too well of the Irish people to believe that as a whole or as the greater part they will resist the draft when they know the bitter, the ignominious, the irreparable price which would have to be paid to triumph over Prussian barbarism if the allies were overwhelmed by the most perfect war machine that has ever stifled liberty and enslaved mankind.

It is unthinkable that the Irish, to whom independence is a religion, would choose German servitude for themselves rather than have England escape that war machine. It is unthinkable that the Irish, whose intelligence and keenness are a proverb, would fail to see that England cannot fall under the iron heel without Ireland meeting the same fate. It is unthinkable that Ireland, rather than be loyal to the allied nations battling Prussian giantism, would choose to be a Poland, a Rumania, a Russia, in the most degrading chains that have ever shackled the opportunities and the hopes of mortal man.

Tens of thousands of men in whose veins runs the purest Irish blood have gone from this country willingly and eagerly to join the allies battling in France. Their love of liberty is as strong as any on this earth. Nobody has a deeper passion than they to see the Ireland of their fathers standing in the family of nations on even terms with all others. And they have gone to the war as drafted men with no other thought than that there can never be Irish freedom, there can never be secure freedom for anybody anywhere, if the iron heel of Prussian militarism is to be permitted to crush out the very life of liberty.

There will be, if we are not much mistaken, tens of thousands of men to go cheerfully from Ireland under the draft as tens of thousands of others have gone from Ireland under enlistments to make the same fight and the same sacrifice for the first of all prizes to-day—the emancipation of civilization from military despotism. In Ireland, just as in this country, just as in England, just as in every land where democracy is made the plaything of political reaction, there is a very real ambition, there are always men who will not fail to take advantage of an opportunity to lift their voices against unwelcome government programs, however necessary they may be, to profane the very name of liberty with their ravings in its behalf. But their clamor is out of all proportion to their numbers. Their efforts are not honored by the majority; they come to be scorned even by some of their very own.

In the struggle for the preservation of the rights of civilization part of Ireland has already gone to the war and done its share to the everlasting glory of Ireland. Now in the very hurricane of the conflict in northern France, in the very crisis of the liberty of the world, another part of Ireland will go under the draft with cheers on their lips and fire in their hearts as long as the German war machine strives to debauch all free men into crawling creatures licking the dust of Prussian jack-boots.—New York Sun.

THE SPENDTHRIFTS

By N. PARKER JONES.

(Copyright, 1918, by the McClure Newspaper Syndicate.)

Hugh Waters tucked little Mrs. Hugh under his arm, pulled his overcoat collar up to keep out the biting wind, and they turned briskly down the snow-covered street toward home. "Warm enough, Muggins?" he asked. "Smothered!" was the coughing reply.

"Some party, wasn't it?" he said enthusiastically.

"Some party! I should say so! Hugh, wouldn't it be lovely to have money?" Mrs. Waters sighed softly. "Enough so we could give a party once in a while, like this one of the Hudsons' tonight, and have a house and wonderful rugs like theirs?"

Hugh threw back his head and roared. "We are mighty hard up, aren't we, lady love? I never realized it so strongly before."

Mrs. Hugh laughed too. "Oh, we're not suffering, I'll admit, and I suppose lots of people think we're rolling in riches on your salary of $2,500 a year; but it doesn't reach very far out after frills, anyway," she answered as they reached their steps.

They opened the door quietly to keep from waking their two little sons, and at their entrance the young high school girl, in charge during their infrequent nights out, rose from her chair, gathered up her books and with a "thank you" for the half-dollar her services demanded and a pleasant "Good night!" she hurried away.

"Sit down and warm your feet, Mrs. Madam," said Waters. "I want to talk to you a little bit."

"We ought to go to bed right away, dear. It's late!" Mrs. Hugh demurred. But she sat down nevertheless, and her husband drew a chair near her. "Kind of cozy here by the fire, I think, don't you?" he asked, and patted her hand. "Just as nice as the party, maybe."

"Nicer, Hugh," she replied. "The best part of going out is coming home, according to my way of thinking. But we are poor, aren't we? It seems to me that every one in our crowd is getting ahead faster than we are. I wouldn't trade husbands with anybody, but I wouldn't mind trading incomes, would you?" She sighed again.

Waters leaned forward with a rather strained look on his face.

"Well, Muggins," he said briskly, "perhaps we can manage the income hereafter. Guess what?"

"What?" she asked breathlessly.

"Hudson took me up to his den to-night and—guess what he said!" He stopped impressively.

"Now, Hugh," she begged.

"Offered me five thousand a year to go with his firm." His tone was triumphant.

"Five thousand!" his wife cried incredulously. "You accepted before he had a chance to change his mind, of course?"

"Well, no, I didn't," he replied slowly. "I thought I'd better consult you first, as all good husbands do."

"Man alive! As if a wife in her right mind would veto such a plan as that!" she exclaimed in astonishment. "Five thousand dollars! Just think of all we can do with that much money. If I thought they weren't too tired to be disturbed I'd have you telephone Mr. Hudson before we go to bed and say 'Yes, indeedly!'"

"I think the proposition will be open till after breakfast anyway," was the dry response. "There was one little condition that I haven't mentioned. Maybe you'd better hear it."

"Why, of course," she answered. "But I know his firm is one of the best in the state. What's the condition?"

"Just that I must travel all the time, stopping only a few days in a place, and will only be able to get home to you and the kiddies once every four weeks, and then only over Sunday, if the trains run right."

Mrs. Waters' eyes were wide with amazement and her pretty face was pale.

"Hugh Waters! And you hesitated one single, solitary second? I'll never forgive you as long as I live!" She began to cry.

"Well, I'll tell him tomorrow that I can report for duty on the twentieth," he answered.

A Raincoat Convenient for Summer

Summer does not mean continual warm weather—not here in New England.

A good raincoat—besides its utility on rainy days—is a fine garment to slip into on an extra cool day. Just enough protection to drive away discomfort.

Raincoats such as we offer give you a big money's worth; they are rain protection and a light overcoat combined.
